
"A blow against the gumshoes!"

—The Kirkus Reviews

"Should be required reading. . . . [About] the snoopers who mind everybody's business."
—Chicago Daily News

"A searing documentary . . . on the misuse of power by Federal and local law enforcement agencies. The use and misuse of electronic surveillance, informers, and agents provocateurs make a sad and disturbing story. . . . Highly recommended." —Library Journal

"The real dangers to the right of privacy and protection against self-incrimination. . . . The important role local police play in political surveillance and the perversion of the original function of grand juries. . . . [are] the warnings implicit in State Secrets."
—Christian Science Monitor

STATE SECRETS
Police Surveillance in America
by Paul Cowan, Nick Egleson, and Nat Hentoff
Including the annotated FBI Media Papers
$10.00 at all bookstores

Holt, Rinehart & Winston HR&W